A SPIRITUAL PANORAMA!

I traveled through the universe of your eyes with the intent of exploring the weaving colors of your handiwork, within the universal frame of regality. As I excavated I discovered thoughts of "being" woven in your harmonious embodiment, and I hugged them, and began to pen these words authoritatively - matriarch, mother, humanist, religious, prudent, perceptive, preeminent, sagacious, inviolable, graceful, exemplary, tender devotion and civic-mindedness. Coming out of this process was edifying and mirror-like, because you live your philosophy through engaging and serving the common good, understanding the sensitivity to human wants and needs - the plight of the poor and underclass, in particular children - promoting dignity of giving without acknowledgements.

Even your occasional indignation is meted out with compassion! "Laugh"! These outlined facts are visible and interlaced in your personality -a gracious smile -a helping hand -a warm embrace -a genuine gift -an open home with victuals, according to need and eccentricity -promoting wellness and the wholesomeness of food a teacher of the highest order whose mantra is providing students, associates and friends with the means of speaking their word, while dealing critically and creatively with their reality, which enables them to be part in "the transformation of their world" by speaking, which Paul Freire in the Pedagogy of the Oppressed calls "Eradication of the Fear of Freedom".

You have an irreversible commitment to family and siblings - a donor who defines the moment, and understands the supreme nature of self-sacrifice, by donating a kidney to your mother – What Faith! Highly! Spiritual actualization of "Love" - What Moral Certainty! Yes! Love is highly spiritual and has nothing to do with social order, so I humbly submit self because you are an extraordinary woman and "being" - A Shawoman!
